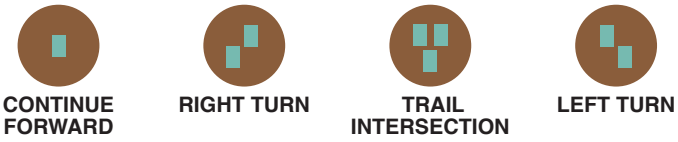
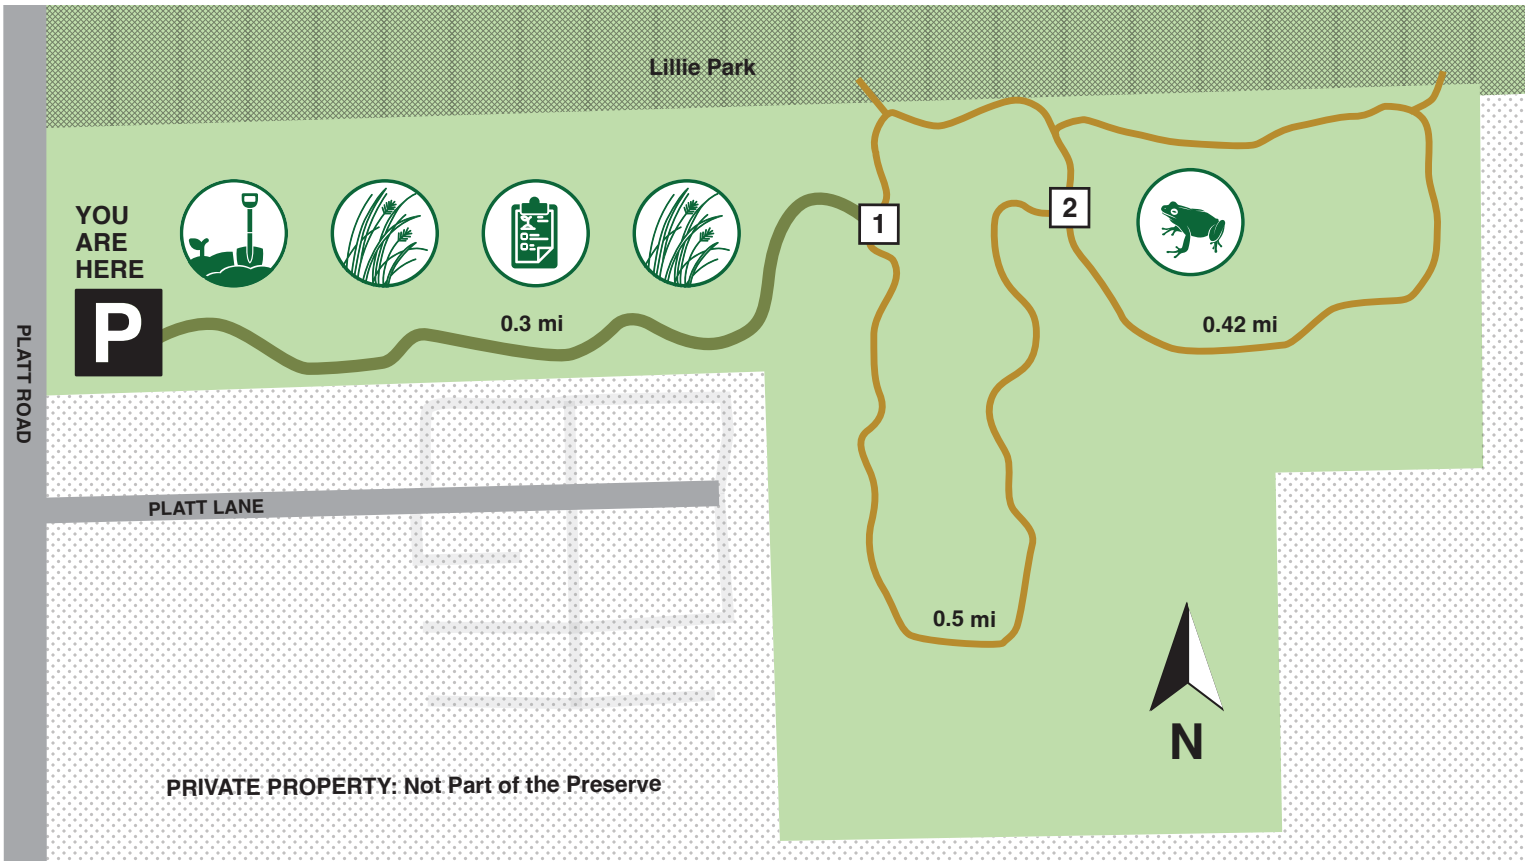
TRAIL BLAZES
Look for these symbols on trees to help you find your way.



Project Grow Community Garden
In partnership with Project Grow, these gardens serve as a place for Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti community members to grow their own fresh, organic food.

Restored Prairie
In 2016 Legacy received funding through the federal Conservation Reserve Program to convert the farmland into prairie. As you move along the trail, enjoy the stunning wildflower display from April to October.

Prairie Research
A portion of the prairie is host to several on-site experiments in partnership with Eastern Michigan University. The research provides hands-on learning for students and will contribute to the science of regional grassland restoration.


Wetland Life
As you loop around the wetland you'll find a healthy population of buttonbush. During warmer months, look for crayfish burrows–mounds of mud with a hole at the top–in which they live. You may also see amphibians like the blue-spotted salamander or a gray tree frog.
